

Allow me to introduce myself . . . Member Spotlight

Hi, my name is: Cassie Sanchez

And this is what I do: For the past three years, I have gotten the pleasure of coordinating, training, and managing over 250 volunteers annually for a local non-profit healthcare company, Colorado Visiting Nurse Association. They do all kinds of jobs for the organization- handy helpers (install grab bars or other light duty carpentry type jobs), hospice (offer companionship to those in their final six months of life), administrative (help us with all kinds of clerical odds and ends around the office), wellness (receptionists at roughly 70 medical foot care clinics around metro Denver to support RN's checking in patients, scheduling and collecting payments), and special event crew that jumps on board around the holidays when we deliver food to low-income clients for Thanksgiving or gifts in December.

I would love some help with: Building better staff buy-in for the programs and also building some strong volunteer leadership positions within the agency.

My special talents or skills include: Former middle/high school teacher, and I love playing my accordion and trumpet.

Right now, I am reading: Old history textbook from college "Lies My Teacher Told Me"

Something that brings me daily Joy is: Cuddling with my three year old girl, petting kitties, stretching, sleeping, and living room dance parties

February's Rotating Question: If I had a day to play hooky from work, I would: Get a massage and eat some Indian/Nepalese food.
